

KANSAS TOWN IS ABANDONED

Streets of Armourdale Great Rivers.

Homes and Business Houses Under Three to Six Feet of Water.

City of Five Thousand People May Never Be Rebuilt, Floods Discouraging People.

KANSAS CITY, July 8.—Tonight the Kaw is falling here and west to Topeka, and it is confidently believed that the worst of the flood is over. Not for many days, however, will normal conditions prevail at Armourdale, Argentine and the low-lying portion of Kansas City, and many plants are inundated.

In the low portion of Armourdale, which is located in the most outer portion of the flood, the water is three to six feet deep, while surrounding the Nelson-Morris packing-house, northeast of Armourdale and close to the mouth of the Kaw, the water is twelve feet deep. Armourdale is practically abandoned, the streets are running rivers, and this town of 5000 population may never be rebuilt, two disastrous floods in thirteen months utterly discouraging a majority of its former inhabitants. The aggregate loss will be heavy.

After flooding a portion of the west bottoms on the Missouri, the water in the jobbing district and in the railroad yards became stationary at noon today and began to fall when within three blocks of the Union station.

The flood in the west bottoms was caused by back water which receded quickly when the Kaw began to go down.

Flood conditions in Kansas, off the Kaw watershed, are still serious, the streams at Abilene, Ottawa, Emporia and Wichita still being high and continuing to rise at some points.

Wears Red Necktie for Evening Dress

Harry Lehr Surprises the Swells at Newport by His Latest Fad in "Gents' Furnishings."

NEWPORT, July 8.—A crimson tie is now the popular thing with society folk, or at least with Harry Lehr, who has set many novel styles for the smart set. Thursday evening was Mr. Lehr's first appearance with the glowing neckwear, when he attended a box party in Peabody Park. No sooner had he entered the theater than folk were attracted, and on close inspection it was found he was the object of scrutiny. He wore the conventional evening dress, a tuxedo, but instead of the usual black bow, he wore one of crimson, which was extremely conspicuous. The innovation has caused quite a little talk in the cottage colony, and the women are wondering to what extent it will be followed.

Total—Washington National Guard, 1720; United States army, 1653; Oregon National Guard, 1596.

Treasure Chest Is Unearthed

Two Boys Find a Box Containing Some Gems and Letter Almost Illegible.

Special to The Tribune.

ANACONDA, Mont., July 8.—Two boys, Phil Daniels and Jimmie Speiman, of this city unearthed a mysterious treasure chest today while digging in a bank at the head of Maple street, and the box aroused considerable interest. The box, uncovered by the lads is about fourteen inches square and made of heavy plank, bound with heavy iron bands. It was found to contain a small diamond pin, two uncut opals, several pieces of gold quartz, a piece of copper ore, brooch set with small pearls, two small imitation diamonds and copper nuggets. In the box also was a letter written on a piece of paper so badly decayed as to be almost entirely illegible. A few words were deciphered, written in a large hand, and they seemed to indicate that the chest contained a secret of great treasure hidden perhaps in some other place, or location of a mine somewhere. The following is all that could be made out of the message: "This chest contains key to chest which is buried—dig, dig, dig—No key was found in the chest and why the thing was buried is a complete mystery. The chest evidently had been in the ground for years."

BUY GOWNS HERE NOW INSTEAD OF NEW YORK

At a large tea given at one of the well-known homes of the city not long since a group of women were discussing the all-important subject of "dresses," when one of them remarked, "Have you noticed of late how much the women of Salt Lake are wearing ready-made afternoon and evening gowns, and that a great majority of them are purchased right here in the city instead of from New York, Chicago or Paris, as was formerly the case?" Her friends all admitted that they had noticed it, and as the throng of guests passed through the rooms many of the elegant gowns were pointed out as examples.

Yesterday a representative of The Tribune called on Hamilton's, one of the stores which makes a specialty of this kind of gowns, and inquired of Mr. Hamilton whether or not the demand for this class of goods increases with the years. His reply was a decided affirmative and he pointed out the fact that in this city the demand for ready-made gowns is increasing rapidly. He said that the ready-made gowns of the city or imported ready-made from New York or Paris are now in great demand. The value of the gowns of course varies greatly, ranging in price from five to $100, the latter figure having been paid for the most elegant gowns. Often an occasion arises where a woman needs an elegant gown on short notice, and if she can be pleased at home on these occasions she will not go outside to make other purchases. Yes, the trade in ready-to-wear gowns is growing with the years, and the women of Salt Lake, as in the other cities, appreciate their advantages.

Harlan Loofbourrow, who was struck by a street car and thrown from his cart on South State street on June 4, filed suit in the District court yesterday against the Utah Light and Railway company to recover damages in the sum of $10,000. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant negligently and carelessly failed to give any warning of the approach of the car, and negligently ran at a great and unreasonable rate of speed. The plaintiff claims that six of his ribs were broken and that he was otherwise badly injured. He also says that his cart was completely destroyed and that the horse was permanently injured.

To Rebuild an Indian School

New Buildings to Be Constructed at Panguitch to Cost $20,000.

Special to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—A report from surveying Inspector Charles was received today at the Indian office regarding the plans for rebuilding the Indian school at Panguitch. The improvements suggested by Inspector Charles, and which will be allowed by the Indian office, involve the expenditure of some $20,000. The plans contemplate remodeling the present farm building, new dormitory, dining-room and kitchen, pump-house and the installation of a water sewerage and gas plant. The new buildings, it is recommended, be constructed of brick. In connection with the bids, it is earnestly suggested by the school superintendent at Panguitch that two sets of plans be prepared for submission to prospective bidders, one to be filed at Salt Lake City and the other at the Panguitch school. It is expected that the most of the work will be done by outside contractors. Indian office draftsmen are now working upon plans and specifications, which it is expected will be ready for formal advertisement within a fortnight.

TRACK, SHOP AND OFFICE. SUBURBAN LINE IS STILL ACTIVE

Grading in Mill Creek Is Now Progressing for the Line to a Summer Resort.

Graders are at work for the Mill Creek line of the Salt Lake & Suburban electric road, which runs up the canyon a distance of three miles. This will be a spur from the main line down the country road toward the mouth of Big Cottonwood, the latter line reaching a point below the Walker farm, thus taking in the fertile part of the eastern side of Salt Lake valley.

Upwards of $10,000 has been expended already by this company, and considerable has been saved in waiting for a drop in the price of material which is now to be ordered.

Within ten or twelve weeks all the Eastern backers of the project will arrive in the city, when the matter will be carefully gone over, and it is expected that not only contracts will be let, but that all arrangements will be made to complete at least thirty miles of track this season.

Of interest in the same connection, although the two projects have no financial relation, is a plan that is now being investigated by some local people as to the advisability of erecting an "old-fashioned" modern hotel in the mouth of Big Cottonwood, which would be a sort of rendezvous for those who seek summer rest and at the same time desire a place near the city. It is always cool at this point, and the hotel could combine all the features of a country club open to the general public. It is in the center of a fruit and vegetable region, is near to a fine fishing stream, and the quail have to be frightened off the road continually when driving down, so it will be an ideal place for such a hotel.

RIO GRANDE OFFICE TO BE OVERHAULED

Speaking of general passenger business yesterday, Maj. S. K. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Rio Grande system, stated that he had just made arrangements for the complete renovation and furnishing of the city ticket office of the system at the Dooly block corner. Not only will the outside be attractively painted and adorned with new signs, but the whole interior will be fixed up to make it an attractive and roomy office for the large business done there. The rear office will be carpeted and refurnished, and the place arranged in much better shape than at present.

The local force is quite delighted over the prospect and will take pride in their home when it is ready.

$10,000 BILL IS STILL AT LARGE

Nearly fifteen years ago a man entered the First National bank of Denver and walked into the office of David H. Moffat, the president of the bank. He had a bottle in his hand that he said contained nitro-glycerine, and threatened to blow up the bank unless he was given a large sum of money. Mr. Moffat sent for the money and among the bills was one of $10,000 denomination. Recently the Government called in all $10,000 bills, and the one given by Mr. Moffat is the only one that has not been presented for redemption. No trace of the man who got the money was ever found.

UTAH COAL TO ANACONDA PLANTS

An important contract has been entered into between the Utah Fuel and the great Anaconda Copper company, whereby the former is to furnish 150 to 200 tons of coke per day to the latter, seven days a week. This is quite an additional output for the Utah concern, which has already a market for nearly all the coal and coke it can produce, but the contract will be carried out and will mean considerable work at the mines, and increase in the number of cars to be handled by the Rio Grande. At the rate of 200 tons a day, it means 1456 cars a year, figuring a car at fifty tons capacity.

When confirming the news of the contract yesterday General Manager Williams of the Utah Fuel company said that the output of commercial coal was ahead of last season, and the company could dispose of all the coal it can mine, while conditions at the different mines are of the best.
